

Jake Gregg

An appreciation by his friend, Alex Heaton

I'm not quite sure what to say, I feel lost at the moment. All that I can say is you were the most amazing person I have ever met, and you changed my life in so many ways. From the first day I met you at recess in 5th grade, all the way up to your last days fighting. You showed me a love and passion for music, life, and other people more than anyone else. Every time I heard you sing and play the guitar, and put so much emotion into your music, it made me want to better myself and strive to be the person and musician that you were. You were one of my main influences that helped turn me into the person that I have become today. I don't understand any of this, but you didn't deserve anything that you were put through. I love you so much and always will. Rest easy Jake!
